

In-work Support Service

Support for Businesses

The business support element of the service is open to all small to medium enterprises based in Powys to create healthier workplaces by making improvements to their health and wellbeing practices, policies or guidance.

The In-Work Support Service covers the whole of Wales and three organisations cover different areas. For more information on which organisation covers which area in Wales, and more general information about the service, please visit the link below.

How we can help

- Mental health awareness training for managers
- Tailored courses for staff
- Guidance on policy from our Human Resources experts to help create a healthier workplace for your staff.
- Health support practice improvements
- HR & employment law support for issues that arise relating to health and wellbeing
- Other bespoke interventions, depending on individual business needs

Our In-Work Support Service provides high quality interventions which can help to reduce the impact of health issues in the workplace. We are offering support to both individuals and businesses.
